

AGROTRIO

IRON, ZINC AND MANGANESE SHORTAGE U.E. FERTILIZER CORRECTOR

AgroTrío is an iron, zinc and manganese shortage U.E. fertilizer corrector, which gives these oligo-elements in a protected way of chelate, specially formulated to treat the symptoms of shortage in acid or basic lands, directly applied on the land. It promotes a, b and c chlorophyll development.

AgroTrío is a chelate of iron, manganese and zinc which allows to correct ferric chlorosis of manganese and zinc in several cultivations, specially in calcareous and alkaline lands, where present iron, manganese and zinc cannot be assimilated by plants.

AgroTrío is launched as water soluble micro granules, so it is not necessary to solve it previously. This makes it very suitable for drip irrigation installations.

AgroTrío has a high percentage of Isómers Ortho-Ortho, which makes it an especially stable product, even in very alkaline and calcareous lands

Manganese shortage symptoms usually appear in alkaline lands with high content in cal and which have been fertilized with high doses of nitrates and potasic sulphate, increasing pH over 8 and turning the manganese oxide formulas insoluble in every way.

Zinc shortage symptoms show up as much in acid as in basic lands, and AgroTrío is specially recommender to prevent and treat them once appeared. Because zinc is an essential element for auxins formation, one of the typical symptoms of its shortage is the activity lack in the terminal vain, what gives place to short stems and small in-knots formation in several cultivations. Zinc is an element which takes part on fruits colouring. Besides, it works as cofactor over aromatic amino acids synthesis promoter enzymes.
